NAZIISM IN U.S. HIT AT LEGION'S N. YORK RALLY

National Commander Harry Colmery Warns Of Perils

ASKS PROTECTION OF CONSTITUTION

And Calls For Independent Judiciary In United States

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The nation's greatest city surrendered without argument today to a rollicking American Legion onslaught. An estimated throng of 500,000 visitors, half of them Legionnaires, took over the metropolis as delegates met for the opening session of the Legion's 19th convention. High-spotting the opening of the annual conclave was the report of Commander Harry Colmery, warning of Nazi influence in America and calling for protection of the Constitution and for an independent judiciary.

Deals Bluntly With Issues

The report, made public in advance of the opening session in Madison Square garden today, dealt bluntly with issues expected to be acted upon later this week.

It gave a sober tinge to a gay celebration that has provided workaday New York with its biggest thrill in years, watching the pranks of Legionnaires tie up traffic in impromptu parades of unrestrained hilarity.

Colmery upheld the right of Legionnaires to be sworn in as deputies during labor disputes but pledged the organization itself to neutrality. He called for a survey to determine all nations' territorial needs as part of a program for removing the causes of war, and urged early adoption by congress of the universal draft act now pending before it.

He reported the Legion membership was 963,000—second highest in its history.

The national commander termed German claims to the right to propagandize Nazism in the country as a "gratuitous insult" and a "brazen affront to every American citizen." He suggested an immediate investigation of all Nazi organizations in the United States.

Disputes Nazi's Aims
We hear from beyond the sea," he said, "that the German government claims the right and intends to organize Nazi groups in our country * * * and that its purpose * * * is to save us from Communism."

"The American people have a right to go Communistic if they want to—although the Legion will oppose that to the finish, as it has a right to do."
"This is the United States, a sovereign people. We have the right to have whatever form of government we desire."

A La Huck Finn

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Sam Cleaver, highway department roadman, tried a "Huck Finn" style vacation on the Cumberland river. He floated downstream 75 miles in 12 days on his home-made raft "Gurdy Anne." He had to report for work Monday morning early, so he took an airplane. He returned in 35 minutes.

Recovering

LISBON, Sept. 20.—County Commissioner Frank Fisher operated on at East Liverpool City hospital Saturday for appendicitis, was reported recovering today.

National Legionnaires Swing Into Action In New York

Many of the lads who had to roll out of the hay into a dismal rainy French morning won't like this picture, on the right, of the bugle-tooter, but here he is, nevertheless—Bugler Ed Miller of New York, who is champion noise maker at the Legion convention under way today in his home town.

The bugler, however, is apt to be slighted with such competition for attention as might be expected from Priscilla Eveleth of Winter Haven, Fla., national champion baton twirling mascot of the American Legion.

VISITORS LAND TRAP LAURELS

Salem Marksmen are Also Among Leaders At Country Club

George Cady of Leavittsburg and S. H. Williams of Youngstown captured top honors in trapshoots at the Salem Country club yesterday. Cady won the Class A division of the 100-bird shoot, while Williams won the first event of the 50-bird handicap shoot in addition to finishing first in the Class B division of the 100-bird event.

Cady broke 96 out of 100 targets to win the Class A 100-bird event, finishing ahead of Lewis Seaborn of Youngstown with a score of 93 and Byers of Ravenna with 91. E. A. Engelhart of Salem was second in Class B, which Williams won with a score of 85. Engelhart also broke 85 targets, but was relegated to second position when Williams was awarded first place on a coin toss. Mrs. G. A. Rose was third in Class B with a score of 83.

Shooting from the 18-yard line, Williams shattered 25 straight targets to take the first event of the 50-bird handicap shoot. Byers of Ravenna was second and Seaborn and Welo Lentz of Youngstown tied for third.

Lentz smashed 25 straight birds to capture first place in the second event of the handicap shoot. Dr. G. A. Rose of Salem and Cady tied for second, with 24 out of 25, while Nate H. of Salem was fourth.

Omar Rinehart of Salem copped second honors in the 50-bird skeet shoot, won by Helwig of Youngstown. Rinehart smashed 47 birds, while Helwig broke 48.

Hunt and George Baillie of Salem and Joe Lentz of Youngstown tied for third in the skeet shoot with 44 birds apiece.

About 50 shooters competed in the trap and skeet events. Complete scores are being published tomorrow.

CATHOLIC DAY DRAWS THROG

2,500 Attend Outing at East Palestine under Auspices of Knights of Columbus

Approximately 2,500 persons attended the county Catholic Day outing sponsored by the six Knights of Columbus councils in Columbiana county Sunday at Peace Valley park.

An extensive program of sports events, ball games, races, contests, bingo, dancing and entertainment was enjoyed throughout the day and last evening. Picnic dinner and supper were served.

East Liverpool, East Palestine, Leontonia, Wellsville, Salineville and Salem lodges were in charge.

A ball game between Salem and East Palestine was won by the former, members of which later played Leontonia men, winners in a game between that group and East Liverpool. Salem team was final winner.

Bar Members Hit Ambulance Chasers

LISBON, Sept. 20.—"The brazen solicitation of business in Columbiana county by non-resident ambulance chasers," will be studied and a probable investigation requested by the Columbiana County Bar association at its luncheon meeting here today.

The meeting opened at noon today at the American Legion home, with President L. M. Keyes of East Palestine in charge.

The protest against the so-called "ambulance chasers" was drafted by the grievance committee of the bar association.

COURT ADVISES GAMBLING PROBE

Grand Jurors Are Given Charge By Judge W. F. Lones

LISBON, Sept. 20.—A sweeping investigation of all gambling activities in Columbiana county was urged today as the September term of grand jury convened here.

Judge W. F. Lones, in charging the jury this morning, asked it to investigate gambling of any kind. The judge is believed to be referring especially to the operation of the slot machine and marble boards.

Foreman Selected
Seven talesmen had to be called today to complete the jury which is to consider a total of 43 cases.

C. M. Brownfield of Madison township, and one of the talesmen, was elected foreman.

Sixteen witnesses were to be heard today and Prosecutor Karl T. Stouffer predicted at least 111 witnesses will be called during the session, expected to last two weeks at least.

Members of the jury, besides Brownfield, are: LISBON—Mrs. May Pritchard, Robert Patterson, Clara Nevich, H. Bennett, Robert Piero, Chris Beck.

EAST LIVERPOOL—Guy Windland, Richard Gibbs, Bill Gass, Mrs. Edith Boughton.

WELLSVILLE—Isaac Meadows. LEONTONIA—Michael Bellhart. COLUMBIANA—Mrs. Charles Rapp.

The grand jury is not expected to investigate the county's two recent

Clerk To Speak

LISBON, Sept. 20.—Charles McLaughlin, commissioner's clerk, will address members of the Lisbon Kiwanis club Thursday noon on the subject, "Good Government."

Mr. McLaughlin addressed members of the Saxon Anti-Crime club at Salem last Thursday on the same topic.

YOUNG BICYCLE THIEF ARRESTED

Escaped Once From County Jail; Now Enroute To Mansfield

Probation Officer James McCready of Salem today had cleared up a series of bicycle thefts here and in East Palestine by arresting a 15-year old Leontonia boy.

And, furthermore, McCready breathed easier today because the youth, who had been eluding him for weeks, even escaping twice after being captured, was on his way to the boys' industrial school at Lancaster to serve an indefinite term.

Two of the "bikes," stolen from Henry Balsey of 111 S. Ellsworth ave., and Ed Shuck of 1125 E. State st., had been returned.

McCready previously had taken the boy into his custody but the lad fled from the Salvation Army home where he was placed temporarily, and later escaped from the Columbiana county jail—mainly because he was soft-spoken and fleet of foot.

He feigned religion and confessed his sins at a chapel service at the county jail and was placed on the basis of a "trustee." That was all the boy needed and the next time deputy sheriffs looked for him he was gone.

The search led into Pennsylvania and there McCready learned he had sold two bicycles at Darlington and two others at Hillsville.

The boy, whose mother is in a Pennsylvania institution, was found living in a shack in a wooded section south of East Palestine.

F.D.R. Hits Constitution, Chairman Gannett Charges

Labels Roosevelt Constitution Day Talk As "Poorly Disguised Attempt to Destroy Document"

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Frank E. Gannett, chairman of the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government, challenged both the accuracy and the fairness of President Roosevelt's renewed attack on the Supreme Court in his Constitution day address. His statement follows:

"Everyone who heard or read Mr. Roosevelt's Constitution day address should measure it by the presidential oath of office:

"I do solemnly swear that I will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

"Did the President defend the Constitution Friday night, or did he attack it?"

"It was, as was his pretense of reforming the courts, a poorly camouflaged attempt to destroy the Constitution by undermining the people's confidence in their judiciary and in lawyers—from whom the judiciary are all chosen."

U. S. EMBASSY'S STAFF READY TO LEAVE NANKING

Move Ordered In Face of Jap Threat To Lay Waste to Capital

INVADERS WARN OF ATTACK PLAN

Japanese Planes Bombard Chinese Capital; 40 Killed

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 20.—The American embassy staff decided tonight to leave Nanking in the face of a Japanese threat to lay waste to the Chinese capital, emphasized by a morning aerial raid in which 40 civilians were killed and 40 homes destroyed.

United States Ambassador Nelson Johnson, with his aides, worked feverishly to transfer documents to the American patrol boat Luzon for the trip 30 miles up the Yangtze to Wuhu.

Too Unhappy to Speak

Amid the rush of evacuation, Johnson said: "I am too unhappy to speak. This is the first time in 30 years of service that I am forced to leave my post."

"But, under instructions from Washington, I cannot risk the lives of loyal staff men. I am not deserting, and I hope to return to Nanking by motor during the enforced absence. Furthermore, the Luzon, and the Guam, which also is going to Wuhu, can reach Nanking in a few hours if the emergency requires."

Of Nanking's peace-time American population of 230, only seven men, including two newspapermen, five missionaries and four women are remaining in Nanking after noon Tuesday.

The embassy staff planned to leave for Wuhu early Tuesday morning, thereby observing a demand by the Japanese naval force. The Japanese had warned that, if they would face danger of death from the air beginning at noon Tuesday, Japanese officials declared Japan would not be responsible for loss of foreign life.

Inquisitive Boy Ignites Gasoline; Burns Are Result

The simple explanation that an explosion is a sudden bursting with loud report was not enough to satisfy Robert Camp, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Camp of S. Ellsworth ave.

Young Robert had to see first-hand about this explosion business.

So at 6 p. m. Sunday, he set out from his parents' fruit market on the Benton rd. with a partially filled gasoline can.

He selected a nearby field for his experiment, placed the can on the ground and stretched a lighted match towards it.

Bang! That was that.

Young Robert slyly returned to the fruit stand, waited on one customer and had started to wait on another when he suddenly began to scream. His parents came rushing to his aid. They looked at him.

Robert's face and hands were badly burned. His parents administered first aid.

Said Robert about his experiment: "I don't even get the match clear into the can. I knew I'd done something wrong. That's why I didn't tell my mother and father right away."

Miss Margaret McKinley, 18, of Garrett, Ind., has been selected—and for very good reasons, to judge from her beauty—to reign as Harvest Queen of DeKalb County's Fair at Auburn, Ind. With the honor goes a six-day trip to Washington.

GULDAHL WINS WESTERN OPEN

National Open Champion Defeats Horton Smith By Four Strokes

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, National Open champion, won his second straight Western Open golf championship today, defeating Horton Smith of Chicago by four strokes in an 18-hole playoff.

The two tied at 288 for the regulation 72 holes which ended yesterday. Guldahl scored par 72 today, while Smith skidded to 76.

Smith lost his chance at the title on the first eight holes, where he dropped six strokes to par and to Guldahl, going two over par on a pair of par four holes and one over on two others.

He started firing his way back into the game on the ninth with a birdie four, picked up two more with a birdie on 10 as Guldahl slipped one over and cut Guldahl's lead to two strokes with another birdie on No. 12. From there on Guldahl gained back most of his previous advantage, losing only the short 17th the rest of the way.

Inability to keep his drives in the fairway cost Smith his chance, at least half his tee shots landing in the rough. He three-putted several greens, too, and Guldahl's steady, machine-like par golf was plenty good enough to win.

Slot Machine Cash To Be Confiscated

LISBON, Sept. 20.—Money found in slot machines seized by the sheriff during a gambling raid may be confiscated along with the machines, according to an opinion received Saturday morning by Prosecutor Karl Stouffer from Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy.

The proceeds of such raids should be turned into the county treasurer's office and may not be used by the prisoner to pay either fines or costs in the case, the opinion also states.

The ruling was requested by officials of another county and sent to prosecutors throughout the state to govern their activities in questions of this nature.

Yea! Yea! — WPA

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio Works Progress Administration chief, estimated today that 165,814 persons would be able to watch Buckeye football games this season in 65 new stadia built at an approximate cost of $3,000,000 with federal and local funds as WPA projects. He said 11 others were under construction.

KOPPEL MAN MEETS DEATH ON ROUTE 14

Two Critically Hurt As Car Plunges Into Break In Closed Highway Near Columbiana Where Bridge Is To Be Built

FAIL TO OBSERVE WARNINGS

East Liverpool Pottery Worker Fatally Injured When Machine Collides With Truck Near Ohio-Pennsylvania State Line

Columbiana county today counted two dead and 10 injured in its weekend traffic toll.

All of the accidents, save one, occurred in the vicinity of Salem. The dead and injured include:

Killed
Michael Cyhar, 35, of Koppel, Pa.
James Shaw, 50, of East Liverpool.

Injured
Roman Shablesky, 28, Koppel, Pa.; in Salem City hospital in critical condition.

John Mussey, 38, Racine, Pa.; in Salem City hospital in critical condition.

John Mussey, 38, Racine, Pa.; in Salem City hospital in critical condition.

Raymond Vignovich, 23, Koppel, Pa.; in City hospital suffering from severe lacerations of face, puncture wound in nose and abrasions of both legs. Condition fair.

Sidney Davis, 29, 305 N. Liberty st., Alliance, in City hospital with chest injury, severe laceration right wrist and bruises to both legs. Condition fair.

Alice Marie Head, 19, of 717 Keystone st., Alliance, in City hospital with chest injury, sprained left ankle and bruised left leg.

Charles Snodgrass, 23, 854 Reed st., Alliance, minor bruises.

Mrs. Helen Eytan, 37, of 318 Woodland ave., Salem; laceration of right leg, abrasion of left eyebrow.

Thomas Green, 52, of R. D. 1, Salem; laceration to scalp.

Mrs. Ray Mellinger, 38, Akron; dislocated left shoulder.

Mrs. Floyd Paxson, 51, Akron; lacerated right eyebrow and left knee bruises.

Mrs. Mellinger, whose husband is a brother of Mrs. Paxson, is a daughter of Mrs. Frank Weber of S. Broadway. Mrs. Paxson is a daughter of Charles Mellinger of N. Lincoln ave.

The accident in which Michael Cyhar was killed and two other men critically injured, occurred at 2:30 a. m. today when an automobile driven by Raymond Vignovich, 23, also of Koppel, crashed through an opening on Route 14, seven miles east of here.

Bridge Taken Out
The highway has been closed since last December when repair work was started. Repaving of the road calls for the installation of two bridges, one of which has been installed. The other has not been constructed and it was into this opening that the Pennsylvania men's car plunged.

The car was enroute east. State Patrolman W. E. Arey, who investigated, said the men apparently decided to drive over the closed road in order to avoid traveling the temporary route by way of Leontonia.

Barricades placed at the spot where the bridge is to go were knocked aside by Vignovich's car.

The body of Cyhar was removed to the Fry funeral home at Columbiana as word from relatives was awaited.

James Shaw, 50-year-old East Liverpool pottery worker, was killed at 10:30 p. m. Saturday when his automobile struck a truck head-on near the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line on the East Liverpool-Midland, Pa., highway.

Walter Penn, Negro Pittsburgh, Pa., driver of the truck which Shaw's car hit, was reported by state police as having been on his own side of the road. The victim was returning from Beaver Falls, Pa., at the time of the crash.

The Alliance trio were injured when their car, driven by Sidney Davis, careened from Route 62, eight miles west of Salem, hurtled a ditch, climbed an embankment

SALEM-WINONA ROAD FINISHED

Route 9 Opened to Traffic; State Patrolmen Sound Warning Against Speeding

With the completion of the Route 9 paving, Salem state highway patrolmen today issued a timely warning to motorists to refrain from reckless driving.

The paving of the road from the corporation limits on Newgarden st., southwest 3.54 miles to the concrete stretch, was ended Saturday and the road is now open to traffic.

The Mahoning Construction Co., of Warren, formerly known as the Warren Construction Co., did the job at a contract price of $48,000.

The road, formerly half brick and half dirt, has been widened to 20 feet and consists of a black asphalt top on a water-bound macadam base.

The highway patrolmen pointed to the fact that several accidents occurred on the road when it was opened temporarily a few weeks ago. The motorists misjudged the curves, the officers explained. "It's a tricky road and is no place for speeding."

FOLSOM PRISON PLOT THWARTED

Three Killed, Warden Stabbed, Two Guards and Five Convicts Wounded In Escape Plot

FOLSOM, Calif., Sept. 20.—Warden Clarence Larkin, two Folsom state prison guards and five convicts lay wounded in the prison hospital today, victims of a bloody escape attempt in which a guard and two convicts were killed.

One of the wounded convicts, Ed Davis, reputed instigator of the break, was believed near death. Larkin suffered 12 stab wounds.

The 20-minute battle began when seven prisoners rushed the warden during his usual Sunday morning interview with prisoners in the office of the captain of the guard.

The seven men, armed with crude knives and two dummy pistols, stepped from line, seized Larkin and Guard Captain W. J. Ryan. They demanded Larkin order the guards on the prison wall to hold their fire. Larkin refused.

FIRST SHOT

It is hard to decide whether President Roosevelt's main purpose in his Constitution day speech was to say something in honor of that 150-year-old instrument of government, or something in dishonor of everybody who fails to see eye to eye with him.

The President is thoroughly convinced that if the Constitution is to survive its 151st year he must have his way in all matters pertaining to it. It must be interpreted according to his views—and by men who won't question the rightness of his views.

In speaking of these things, Mr. Roosevelt explained that he purposely was painting a broad picture. In certain aspects, the broad picture he has painted is suggestive of some ultra-modern school of political art whose style needs to be explained to the public.

The "laymen" he speaks of—and the lawyers too, probably—wonder how the Constitution is going to be saved by packing the supreme court, particularly if newly appointed Justice Black is a sample. They wonder, unless they are among those who have quit wondering, why it is all right for a new dealer to torture the words of the Constitution into one interpretation and all wrong for anti-new dealers to insist the new dealers are wrong. Even though they know this kind of disagreement has been going on ever since the men who formed the Constitution passed away, they still think what Mr. Roosevelt needs is some new constitutional amendments, not merely some new interpretations.

The President's speech is the first shot in his second battle to bring the supreme court to its knees and the Constitution within easy range of the Corcorans and Cohens who know exactly what the founding fathers would say if they were alive today. Mr. Roosevelt is "going to the country" with his plan to save democracy by packing the supreme court. That is, of course, his privilege. But he will discover that the public wants to know what packing the supreme court has to do with saving democracy in the United States. He should have an answer ready.

MERRYMAKERS

The average member of the American Legion is 44 years old now. When he goes to a national convention he either takes his wife with him, or promises to write to her and the two children every night.

This composite former soldier will be guest of honor for the next week in New York City. The advance guard of the 19th Legion convention has been moving on the metropolis for weeks.

The convention will bring between a quarter and a half million visitors to the city. Hotels, restaurants, shops and night clubs will make it easy and pleasant for them to spend at least $100 apiece—or at least $25,000,000 as a group.

Every available policeman will be on duty during the convention. The Legion, itself, has formed a committee of 800 members to maintain order. As a last minute precaution it was announced that "all small cannons found in possession of individuals" would be confiscated. This does not include those in possession of the criminal element of the city, but applies only to Legionnaires, who use "small cannon" for fun, not business.

These things are interesting. For almost two decades the United States has been enriched and amused by a traveling Mardi Gras, in the form of the annual American Legion convention, and there's not a sign yet that the merry-makers are slowing up. At 44, on the contrary, they seem to be starting to sprint.

A MAN NAMED SCHACHT

A man named Schacht (not the baseball funny-man) was reported out of favor in Germany as last week closed.

There are European observers who think this is the most important foreign news of the day—if it's true. Why?

Because Dr. Hjalmar Schacht has been the financial genius of the Nazi regime. While Adolf Hitler has thundered Germany back into national pride, Dr. Schacht has been sticking props under a shaky fiscal structure.

He has performed miracles. He has breathed life into the moribund reichsmark and kept the upside-down Nazi economic policy from collapsing.

If, as reported, he has lost influence and joined the procession of officials marching from madcap governments into private life, Germany has purged itself not wisely but too well.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, September 21

A day of rather unusual or surprising developments is foretold by the prevailing lunar and mutual configurations of the important planets. It is probable that either romantic, social or purely festive functions may engage the attention, to the neglect of sordid activities. There is shown a temptation to extravagance and indulgence in such pursuit of pleasure, possibly accompanied by running at cross purposes to the counsel of elders. However, this sociability, as well as speculation, sports or gambling may prove profitable.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which romance, the pursuit of pleasure, or out-of-the-routine functions and adventures may hold the attention. However, speculative enterprises, gaming, gambling and sports enhance the social prestige and gratifications, all with profit, increased expense, extravagance and personal indulgence, to which elders may offer warning. Show, possibly vain glory and boasting hold sway.

A child born on this day may be endowed with many talents and tendencies toward reaching for the limelight. Pleasure, social ambitions, sports, gambling or speculative enterprises may be its ruling passion, with extravagance and show, all of which will heighten its popularity and prestige.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—Diary: Up at 5 a. m. distracted by the street noises and weary about this and that. But after a shower and slice of Danish cheese with little pig sausage and a beaker of sweet milk all merry and bright again. Then talking with the night elevator man about world affairs.

So driving to Greenwich to see Ray Long, who has been visiting at Big Creek in the Ohio hills and learned to milk a cow. Afterward circling across country to Major Bowes' estate, Laurel Hill, and walked among his flowers. And back to my quarters, just too late to talk to Anna May Wong.

Nelle Shaw to dinner and off early for Buffalo. And I had a sudden seizure to work, my fingers flying across the typewriter for about 15 minutes and then no thoughts soever. And wondered at my drowsiness until I recollected my early rising. Then quickly to bed.

New York now has so few beards among artists and writers that they are almost regarded as an oddity. Twenty years ago every newspaper had at least a half dozen well-known chin pieces—often among top flight editorial writers, art and dramatic critics. Beards also flourished among theatrical publicity men. Wendell Phillips Dodge and St. Goodman, for instance. Today Robert P. Scripps among editors is about the only bearded specimen. Jo Davidson, the sculptor, is, of course, still distinguished for his shiny black beard. And the red whiskers of Ernest Boyd, the Irish essayist, now and then illuminate a first night aisle. Young medical students, too, have dropped their Van Dykes and go clean shaven. But elderly barbers say that beards go in cycles and that America is in for a beaver boom soon.

My first big-time editor, John A. Vandercook, sported a wisp of imperial and nose glasses with a broad black ribbon. He had been a foreign correspondent and beat the world with a press association dispatch that Queen Victoria was dead. He was also the editor who plucked Roy Howard from an obscure copy desk and sent him to New York as a news association manager. Vandercook seemed to me the personification of journalistic worldliness and I gazed upon him with awe as an elderly journalist who knew the game. Yet when he died rather suddenly he was only 36.

Personal nomination for the most glamorous of all newspaper reporters—Frank Ward O'Malley.

O'Malley was the only reporter I ever knew whose writings became generally known without a by-line, a credit to his rare genius. His stories in the old Sun were never signed, yet every Sun reader was able instantly to spot the O'Malley touch. He had a style no one could imitate. And he knew how to interview people in a way that made them tell him things they would tell no one else. Irvin Cobb once glorified him in a Saturday Evening Post short story called "O'Malley of the Sun." And by that title he was known to newspaper readers of New York of that generation. Compared to filling a single column today, his work was prodigious. There was at least one column-and-a-half story by O'Malley, aside from a half dozen others ranging from a half to a quarter column. Now and then there would be juststick that would stand out like a finely chiseled gem. One concerned a tenement child that wandered to the roof edge one night and toppled to death and some inspired headline writer captioned it: "A Little Child in the Dark."

Bagatelles: Joe Cook is part owner in a medicine show and appears with it incognito when it is in his neighborhood. . . . Gene Tunney cries "Bravo" at first nights that please him. . . . Alfred Vanderbilt, always squire his mother, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, to championship fights. . . . Robert Garland, former critic, has sold a play for Broadway production. . . . Wolcott Gibbs has "profiled" Lucius Beebe for the New Yorker.

Hendrik Van Loon tells the story of the lady who slammed the door shut in the salesman's face before he had begun talking, exclaiming: "I don't want none." To which he shouted: "How do you know I'm not selling grammars?"

YELLOW FEVER

Full military honors were recently given the late Charles F. Soontag, Spanish-American war veteran. This hero voluntarily risked his life in 1901, when he participated in Dr. Walter Reid's famous experiment in yellow fever.

Dr. Copeland

Most of my readers have heard of yellow fever. But few realize that at one time it was a serious menace to the population of the world. For decades little was known about the disease, although intensive investigation had gone on for many years.

Dr. Walter Reid's experiment consisted of obtaining volunteers to submit themselves to the bite of the mosquito. Other volunteers exposed themselves to terribly filthy conditions, it being believed this might be the cause of yellow fever. In time it was discovered that the volunteers bitten by the mosquito contracted the disease while the others did not.

Although the disease has not been completely eradicated, it is not encountered as frequently as in former years. It is largely confined to Africa and other tropical sections of the world, where large areas of land still remain untouched by civilization. Public health officials realize, however, that there still exists a menace to this disease.

Mosquito Germ

With the new methods of transportation, particularly by airplane, it is possible for germs of the dis-easy to be quickly carried from one country to another. Fortunately, measures are now taken to guard against this danger.

Today it is known that yellow fever is caused by a germ carried by a mosquito called the "stegomyia fasciata." Until very recently we believed the germ is carried by this type of mosquito only. In any event, when a victim is bitten by this insect, he is inoculated with the bad germ.

Within a short time he complains of a high fever, marked restlessness, nausea and vomiting. The vomiting is persistent and is called "black vomit" because of its dark color.

A sufferer from yellow fever makes a pathetic sight. The skin is unusually pale at first and ultimately turns yellow. The eyes are swollen and blood shot. There is marked thirst, as well as severe pain throughout the abdomen.

It will be conquered when a vaccine has been perfected. Until then, every effort must be taken to guard against the disease, making use of our present knowledge regarding it.

Answers to Health Queries

An Interested Reader. Q.—What kind of a doctor would one consult in order to have scars, left from skin disease, removed? The arms are affected.

A.—See a skin specialist. He will give you full information and advice after examining the scars.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

THE CAPTIVE BRIDE

by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

CHAPTER I

"Harp, hand me that pen and a sheet of paper. Thanks. Here, Jack. Jot down the terms of the bet and we'll both sign." Rev showed the articles across the table. "Papers, eh?" Page laughed. "Aren't you the guy who told me once that rivermen didn't need anything in writing to make them keep their word?"

"Right. But you're the guy who told me that the verbal agreement between your dad and mine was not binding—because there was nothing in writing. Perhaps you recall the night—it was when you announced yourself a modern business man with a new code and a new idea of sportsmanship."

"Ret! But here goes—first man to the Wrangell dock wins. And no squawks; no alibis. That understood?"

Bourne assented a trifle grimly. "No squawks; no alibis. Put it in writing if you like."

Page wrote rapidly for a few minutes; and handed the paper over. Bourne read it through carefully and then signed his name.

A moment after Page's departure, Harp leaped to his feet to meet Bourne coming back from the front door. "Rev! He burst out. 'Have you gone crazy? You know Page is a sure-things gambler, and yet you let him kid you into playing his game! Can't you see that's what he came here for tonight? He deliberately heckled—"

Bourne interrupted him with a laugh. "There are times when you get your Scotch pessimism get the upper hand of you, Harp." He laid an affectionate hand on the foreman's shoulder. "Don't you know that any bet is a good bet if you win it?"

"You can't win against a stacked deck, Rev! And it looks like a stacked deck to me when Stebbins throws in with Page."

"Don't worry about that. From now on I'll keep three men on guard every minute aboard the Maid."

"But the river's in flood, skipper! Page knows where the new channels are and you don't."

"Flood or no flood, I can still read water, Harp. And remember this—no one has ever seen the Maid doing her best, except that night I took Doc down to Wrangell. She's a better ship than the Wind. I know, because I built her. And—"

"I'm a better white-water man than Page. Do you doubt that?"

"No. But—ye Gods, Rev! Tears stood in Harp's eyes. "Think what you've staked! Everything—everything!" He choked, tried again to finish his thought, and failing, bolted from the room into the kitchen.

Bourne, almost as if he were just now aware of the extent of his bet, repeated considerably. "Yes, everything. The business my father established. The business Latty established. Loneywater, River House,

The Maid and my smaller boats. If I do lose—"

"Suddenly he turned to Denny. "What do you think about this, little dark child?"

She sprang to her feet. "I think you're a fool!" she flashed.

"But—I forgot, my dear. This really doesn't concern you now. Your objective is to get away to gain your legal freedom from me and to forget this crude river land and everything in it."

She realized he was quoting her. "Every word of that is true!" she cried angrily. "I have no interest whatever in Tarnigan. I really don't care whether you win or lose. Nevertheless, I think you're a fool. A complacent, egotistic, gambling fool!"

And because tears rushed into her throat, preventing further speech, she walked hastily out into the hall and ran upstairs, unaware that he was smiling as if her show of emotion had pleased him.

When she gained her own quarters, she threw herself on her couch and cried. She didn't know why she cried, except that the end of the world seemed to have come.

It was some time before she became calm enough to be annoyed with herself. "What am I sniveling about?" she thought. "It's nothing to me if he loses everything. I'm beginning a new life—a lovely, civilized life."

She groped among the cushions to retrieve the letters she had tossed there, and, finding them, lay staring at the ceiling, trying to put her mind on the pleasures Sylvia had depicted. The way lay serenely before her—the trip to France, new clothes, her reunion with her mother—

And Murray! Murray, free again. She would soon be free also, and then they might take up their lives together where they had left off—if she wished.

She failed to work up any enthusiasm for this program. As for Murray she could not imagine herself considering marriage with him now—or with any man. Not even Van, much as she had grown to like him.

Her thoughts drifted back to the night after the break-up, when she had given Van his answer. She had been alone in the living room when he came in from attending an old squaw.

After talking about his patient for a few minutes, he turned to the table and, like a small boy testing a newly acquired skill, took up a paperknife with this right hand—that right hand so sensitive, so delicate, so powerful. He held the knife up between his thumb and the third and little finger. "Look! My grasp is getting firmer!"

His eyes held a light Denny had never seen there before; a light, she knew, that no woman could ever inspire.

"Wonderful, Van. I'm awfully happy for you."

"It changes everything for me. Reopens my world. Makes me believe—in God," he added soberly. And, as if just remembering, he added, "Am I going to take you back with me into my world, Denny?"

She shook her head. "Let's be honest, Van. I know you haven't given me a thought since you found your child in your hand. I in turn had forgotten that you asked me to marry you until just this minute. What happened last night before the break-up—I'm sure was merely the result of our long, monotonous winter and—"

"But Denny, I love you. I couldn't have lived through those terrible months without you. I—"

"That's it, I filled a need. But if I had not been here, you would have felt the same about any other congenial woman who happened to be thrown with you, Van. Your profession will always mean more to you than the love of any woman. And that's as it should be."

"Denny . . . don't."

"But it's true. And I feel, somehow, that because of this trial, you'll go farther in your profession than would have been possible otherwise." She put a hand on each of his arms and stood looking up at

"This hint of further delay only

"Denny . . . don't."

Hitler Reviews the Nazi Shovel Army

Spades were more than mere implements of agriculture when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler reviewed his famous labor corps at Nuremberg during the Nazi party congress. Thousands of stalwart Nazis, stripped to the waist, bearing spades instead of rifles, paraded under the benevolent eye of Der Fuehrer. Here they are, lined up for inspection.

increased Denny's determination to leave at once. If he wouldn't take her—well, there was Jack Page.

"All right, Captain. If you feel that way about it, I shall not hand-cap you by going down on the Maid."

The line of his eyes narrowed and he gave her an odd, comprehending smile. "You are always consistent in your resistance of me, White Water. Well, I capitulate. Harp will take your baggage down early—to the Stikine Maid. In this race, I'd rather have you with me than with Jack."

"Oh! Then you'll really let me go with you?"

"I'll make it a little stronger than that, Denny." He grinned suddenly, and for some reason she felt as if it were he, instead of herself, who had just won a point. "I'll be glad to have you go with me."

She wondered suspiciously what he meant by that. Then she realized that the incident was finished and it was time to say good night. Yet neither of them said it. They stood speechless, looking into each other's eyes as if each waited for the other to say something further.

She was suddenly very conscious of his figure not three feet from her. She tried to break the embarrassing silence; but it grew, wiping out coherent thought, until it seemed to throb about her with a magnetic fervor, expanding in waves that washed over him; over her. There came a confused instant when she was sure they were swimming toward each other in a warm sensuous mist. Then she jerked herself together. No. He had not moved. Nor had she. But her heart was beating faster.

"Good night, Rev!," she said hastily.

"Good night, Denise."

Quickly she closed the door and, with an odd feeling of frustration, stood staring at the blank panels. "Darn him!" she whispered, with a noiseless stamp of her foot. "Darn him—the blond devil!"

She felt as if she had been on the edge of some intense and beautiful experience—and it had not happened.

Mrs. J. Armstrong McCarty and sister, Miss Alberta Yengling, entertained friends at a dinner party in honor of the 40th wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Yengling, Tenth st., Saturday evening at Two Crest Inn.

The dinner was served at 6 o'clock to 16 guests who were seated

Salem-Detroit Couple Are Married Here

Miss Katharine Fronius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Fronius, of Liberty st., and John E. Hartig, of Detroit, Mich., were united in marriage in a charming ceremony at 4 p. m. Saturday at the home of the bride's parents.

Rev. Schallhase, pastor of the Martin Luther church of Youngstown, heard the exchange of vows before a floral setting in a large window in the living room of the Fronius home. The home was decorated throughout with fall flowers.

Miss Margaret Schuster of Salem served as maid of honor and Arol Brotherton of Detroit was best man.

The bride wore a frock of rust crepe with brown accessories. Her corsage was of white roses, lilies-of-the-valley and fern. Miss Schuster was dressed in mahogany crepe with brown accessories and wore a corsage of Tailsman roses.

Twelve guests, members of the immediate families, attended the ceremony which was followed by a dinner. Green and white decorations for the table featured a large four-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom.

Later in the evening a reception was held at the Fronius home.

Mrs. Hartig was graduated from Salem High school in the class of 1937. Mr. Hartig is employed as electrical engineer by the board of education in Detroit.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Detroit.

Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Gust, Detroit; Arol Brotherton, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Phillips of Canton; Mr. and Mrs. George Fronius, Alliance; and Miss Hilda Thut of Farrell, Pa.

Miss Marion Baker Wed at Church

Miss Marion Baker, daughter of Mrs. Clement Thomas of South Ellsworth ave., and John Maruskin, son of Mrs. Michael Maruskin of Cleveland, were married at a high mass in St. Paul's Catholic church at 9 a. m. Saturday by Rev. Fr. Maurice J. Casey.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white satin and lace, fashioned with a short lace jacket. Her long veil was caught at the head with clusters of orange blossoms. Her corsage was of red roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Hilditch, wore a pink taffeta gown with blue accessories and corsage of red roses. Best man was Andrew Vujeh of Cleveland.

A wedding breakfast and a reception was held after the ceremony at the bride's home.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home to friends at 518 Franklin st.

Guests included: Mrs. Michael Maruskin, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vujeh of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Grendel and daughter Betty Lou of Glen Robbins; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Maruskin, Jr., and family, Miss Daisy Marfak and Steven Marfak of Bergholtz, and Mrs. Oville N. Unger of Marlboro.

Miss Ulitnyh Bride Of Mark Alton

The marriage of Miss Margaret Ulitnyh and Mark Alton Fenton was solemnized in the Emmanuel Lutheran church at 3 p. m. Saturday by the pastor, Rev. John Bauman.

Attendees were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Moul. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Ulitnyh of Hillsdale, wore a gown of mahogany chiffon velvet and a corsage of valley lilies. Mrs. Moul wore a plum colored crepe gown and corsage of Tailsman roses.

The couple left for a short trip and on their return will be at home to friends on East Pershing st.

Fenton, son of Mrs. Nettie C. Fenton of South Manchester, Conn., is employed by the Mullins Manufacturing Corp. He is a brother of Mrs. Fred Blevins, Newgarden ave.

Honor Bride-Elect At Shower

Miss Juanita Conrad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Conrad of the Damascus rd., who will become the bride of Raymond Starbuck of R. D. 4, Tuesday evening, was honored by friends at a surprise shower Saturday evening at her home.

About 70 guests were present from Salem, Winona, Damascus, Newton Falls and Washington, D. C. The evening was spent informally and lunch was served. Miss Conrad received many beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Newton Stirling Class Hostess

Young Ladies' Bible class of the First Baptist church will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Newton Stirling, Washington ave. All members are asked to meet at the church at 7:15 to go to the Stirling home.

Another of the many Salem students attending universities this year is Miss Mary Elizabeth Sharkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sharkey of the Damascus rd., who left yesterday for Cleveland to attend Western Reserve university, where she is a sophomore.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Hollenbeck of Columbus were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Yengling, Tenth st.

Attend Convention Of Sorority

Misses Helen Papesch, Ann Zelle and Mildred Ospeck and Mrs. Robert Loder attended the national convention of the Omega Nu Tau sorority last weekend in Dayton.

A meeting at 2 p. m. Saturday opened convention activities, held in the Miami hotel. A banquet was held in the evening, followed by a dance. Sunday morning was devoted to business when new national council officers were elected. The new officers were installed Sunday afternoon and the convention was closed with an afternoon dance.

Mrs. T. E. Miller Class Hostess

The Wesleyan class of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. T. E. Miller, Greenford rd., at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Members are asked to meet at the church at 7:30 p. m.

For transportation they are asked to call the president, Mrs. Russell Smith, phone 1734, or Mrs. P. W. Koenreich, phone 1337.

Auxiliary To Meet

Ladies auxiliary of the B. P. O. Elks will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the lodge home. All members are asked to be present.

Honor Rev. Wilson

In observance of the 25th anniversary of the entry into the ministry of Rev. J. C. Wilson, a special service was held Sunday morning in the Methodist church, followed by a coverdish dinner in the dining room, a large congregation attending both service and dinner.

The audience included many members of former charges in the North East. Ohio conference formerly served by Rev. and Mrs. Wilson, who were also observing their silver wedding anniversary.

No church service was held Sunday at the Lutheran church owing to the absence of the pastor, who is on vacation. Miss Alverda Eesenwein was devotional leader at the Luther league meeting Sunday evening, with Miss Helen Douglas in charge of a panel discussion.

The Mary Martin class of this church will meet Friday afternoon.

The Sunday evening union service was held in the Presbyterian church, with Rev. William Woodall of the Girard Presbyterian church as guest speaker. Rev. J. C. Strubel will attend the meeting of Mahoning Presbytery at Kinsman.

Members of the Women's Bible class of Grace Reformed Sunday school will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Isaac Culp.

George Forney, C. W. Sprott, Charles Roller and J. J. Martin left Saturday night by motor to attend the national convention of the American Legion in New York.

The Men's Brotherhood of Grace Reformed church will hold a father and son banquet on Oct. 20, instead of Oct. 28, as previously announced.

Miss Jane Osceola spent the weekend with relatives near Youngstown.

At Auxiliary Meeting Mrs. Charles Roller, president of the Columbiana American Legion auxiliary, was elected county president Friday evening at the council meeting held at East Palestine.

Others in attendance from Columbiana were: Mesdames H. W. Lundgren, Raymond Culp, R. J. Beck, Ross Sheets, R. J. Buhecker, F. J. McGahan and W. B. Treadwell.

The fall 10th district conference of the auxiliary will be held in the Columbiana Methodist church some time in November.

At the monthly meeting of the local ladies' auxiliary, Mrs. H. W. Lundgren was elected president; Mrs. Stewart Orr, vice president; Mrs. R. J. Beck, secretary; Mrs. F. J. McGahan, treasurer, and Mrs. W. B. Treadwell, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. J. E. Hollenshead welcomed members of the local W. C. T. U. at her home Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Frank Ferrall, presided and appointed delegates to the county W. C. T. U. convention to be held Sept. 24 at East Palestine.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church opened the fall and winter season Sunday evening. Misses Verne Moser, Ellen Esterly and Ruth Hammond gave an interesting account of the summer conference held in Wooster.

Mrs. K. T. Gormley was hostess to associate bridge club members Friday evening at a dinner party in Youngstown, followed by a theater party. Mrs. H. C. Nolan will be the next hostess.

unsolved gangland murders. The victim in one slaying was Roy "Happy" Marino, Youngstown convict, and the victim in the other killing has never been identified. His body was found near here two months ago.

Borgwardt Case Listed The jury will pass on the case of 23-year-old John (Johannes) Borgwardt, charged with the shotgun murder of Mrs. Ruth B. Cranston at her home near Westville, Aug. 9. He is charged with first degree murder.

The charge of racial discrimination preferred by Atty. James Ferguson, an East Liverpool Negro, has been continued until the January term of grand jury, it was announced today. The plaintiff is ill in Salem City hospital.

Ferguson claims Cornelius Smith, East Liverpool beer tavern proprietor, instructed his waiter, Bernard Taylor, to charge 20 cents for a 10-cent glass of beer "by reason of color."

Ohio valley tavern and restaurant men are watching closely outcome of the action, considered the first test case of a recently amended state law. Smith and Taylor are free on $300 bond each pending grand jury action.

A Refugee Who Fled in Vain

Thousands of panic-stricken Chinese packed Shanghai's South Station in a frantic attempt to escape the murderous shelling and bombardment of Japanese naval and air forces. When the terminal was jammed, Japanese navy guns and air bombs were loosed on it. In the holocaust which followed the casualties were appalling. A rescue worker is shown removing one of hundreds of bodies recovered from the ruins.

F. D. R. ADDRESS HIT BY GANNETT

Latter Challenges Accuracy, Fairness of President's Talk

"This is the answer of the father of the constitution himself to the President's complaint that the Constitution should be what the President tells the Supreme Court to say it is. The President wants himself to be the odd man on the Supreme Court.

"Mr. Roosevelt would have us believe that lawyers as a class impede the progress of our country. Did he intend his aspersions for Jefferson, Monroe, Lincoln, Cleveland, to mention a few of his predecessors who were lawyers? Did he intend to discredit Marshall, Holmes, Hughes, Brandeis and Cardozo?

"Or did Mr. Roosevelt intend his aspersions only for those lawyers who refuse to accept his New Deal philosophy and swallow it whole—men like Wheeler, Borah, Sumners, Burke, Pettengill and others whose recognized legal knowledge and experience were used so effectively to defeat his court-packing scheme?

Concealed Real Purpose
"When President Roosevelt sent to Congress his proposal to pack the Supreme Court, he attempted to conceal his real purpose, representing that it was to 'reform' all the Federal courts, expedite their work, and lighten the burden of the justices.

"The nation soon saw that the effect, if not the deliberate purpose, was to establish executive control over the judiciary department of the government so that, with a subservient congress, the President could dictate legislation and interpret it as he willed.

"Defeated in this purpose, the President then appointed to the Supreme Court the unfit Klansman, Hugo Black. Professing opposition to dictatorship, he reaches out to control both the legislative and judicial processes. What he wanted, and still wants—or at least demands—is a Supreme Court, and lower courts, filled with puppet justices who will give him decisions validating unconstitutional concentrations of power in Washington.

"He is not content to abide by the orderly processes of democratic government.

"Embarrassed by the unmasking of his Klansman-Justice, the President now attempts to justify his position by further deception, misrepresentation and demagogic efforts to incite class prejudice. Pretending to defend the Constitution, he again attacks and attempts to discredit its very cornerstone, the Supreme Court.

Deceives By Half-Truths
"He attempts to deceive by half-truths. He repeats that the framers of the Constitution did not intend to give the Supreme Court 'veto power' over congress, although it was clearly the intent of the framers of the Constitution that the Court should safeguard the citizens against any attempt by either the congress or the executive to overstep the limits of power set for them by the Constitution.

"The President has no criticism of the court when it decides, by even one vote, in his favor, but it becomes an evil power when it disagrees with his views. He must have court decisions his way. One of the strongest features of the Constitution is the provision that prevents hasty revolutionary changes or government by mob rule. The Supreme Court's careful, deliberate way of protecting the Constitution is the best guarantee of the future of our government.

"What a pity that a person in such high office, who has sworn to uphold and defend the Constitution, should use his position and influence to overthrow the basic principles of that sacred document and raise in the minds of the uninformed disrespect for it. If there is one quick way to destroy our democratic form of government, it is to undermine the prestige of the judiciary.

Preserved By Courts
"The President spoke of the Bill of Rights. Freedom of the press and of religious worship, freedom of assembly and trial by jury are our most precious liberties. Again and again they have been preserved only by the Supreme Court. These liberties have disappeared in every country where the courts have come under the influence of the executive, who with the courts in his control soon makes his decrees law and himself dictator. Every citizen, high or low, rich or poor, must be made to realize this, and see to it that no one, not even Mr. Roosevelt, is permitted to destroy our constitutional safeguards of freedom.

"The President, with all his conceit, believes that only he and his program can raise the living standard of America. There are millions of intelligent citizens more able in business affairs, more experienced in industry and farming, and more learned and experienced in the law than he, who are absolutely sure that Mr. Roosevelt's program of scarcity and his plan for government control of all enterprises is wrong and a menace.

"Recovery in the United States has lagged far behind that in other nations that have preserved democratic freedom. A score of nations with 600 million population have balanced their budgets, have high employment, business prosperity, and increasing production by agriculture with profitable prices. Ten times more homes for workers, in proportion to population, have been built in England than have been built under Mr. Roosevelt's administration despite his vast expenditures.

Appeals Losing Force
"But there is this comforting thought: No one, not even a Roosevelt or a Barnum, can fool all the people for long. It is the old cry of 'stop thief!' The public can see through his sophistry and his attempt to recover lost prestige by false arguments. His appeals to prejudice are losing their force, and the public will see it all clearly when his unsound economic program fails.

"Today we are threatened with dictatorship if Mr. Roosevelt's plans for centralized power are not checked. The country is safe so long as we keep the judiciary free and particularly preserve the independence of our Supreme Court. We are threatened with dictatorship the moment any one man gets control of all departments as President Roosevelt so plainly aims to do.

NAZIISM IN U. S. HIT BY LEGION

National Commander Harry Colmery Warns Of Perils

government and follow whatever political philosophy we think best for us."

In one of the most outspoken convention messages delivered by a Legion commander in internal government problems, Colmery suggested that every Legion post hold at least one meeting this fall to study the Constitution.

Colmery justified, on the grounds of patriotic duty, the use of Legionnaires as "strike deputies"—a practice that has brought widespread criticism from labor leaders, particularly during the recent steel strikes.

Reaffirming his stand, however, that the Legion is a national body embracing all social classes and must not "take sides" in industrial disputes, the commander cautioned veterans against wearing Legion emblems while on duty.

Cites Duties as Citizen
"You must not arrogate to yourself police authority," he added, "but as a good citizen you may offer to be deputized and assist the law enforcing agencies to maintain law and order. There are times when the law enforcing agencies either break down or are not sufficiently strong to cope with the situation.

"In that event, people have an inherent right to protect themselves, society has the right to protect itself . . . if under such circumstances Legionnaires gave that protection it is neither fair nor just to characterize them as obnoxious vigilantes."

THE OHIO BELL TELEPHONE CO.

DENHARDT FACES COURT 2ND TIME

Ballyhoo of First Hearing In Murder Case Is Missing

(By Associated Press)
NEW CASTLE, Ky., Sept. 20. — With all the ballyhoo of the first trial missing, Henry county prepared today to try Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt again on a charge of murdering Verna Garr Taylor, his 40-year-old fiancée.

Farmers, who last spring deserted their rich lands to pack the high-ceilinged courtroom, were busy today harvesting a bumper barley to-bacco crop and paid scant attention to the general's latest battle.

May Not Open Tomorrow
Whether the trial, which is set for 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, would actually get under way was still a defeated question today.

Although both the commonwealth and the defense have stated they were "ready" there was a strong possibility the case would either be continued to a later term of court or transferred to another county.

Commonwealth Attorney N. R. Kinsolving, Jr., who prosecuted the first trial last spring, which ended with the jury deadlocked 7 to 5 for acquittal, expressed the opinion it probably would be impossible to obtain a jury in this county. It was necessary to call special panels last April before obtaining the jury.

However, both Kinsolving and John Berry, a member of the general's legal staff, denied they would ask for a change of venue.

The general, who has expressed confidence his second trial will end in his acquittal, was enroute here from his home in Bowling Green where he has been, except for several weeks encampment at Fort Knox, since he was released under $25,000 bond.

Whether the state has unearthed any new evidence during the summer remained clouded in secretiveness today and Kinsolving, to questions replied, "the public and Denhardt will find out soon enough."

No New Witnesses
As far as could be learned the state has not subpoenaed any new witnesses in addition to the ones who testified at the trial last May. The defense said it had the same group of technical experts under subpoena who were here last April to attack the commonwealth evidence.

Absent today were the special lunch booths erected last spring by the local churches; the medicine shows, who were chased away by the state police, and the state police themselves. To all intent the trial was just "another one" as far as New Castle is concerned.

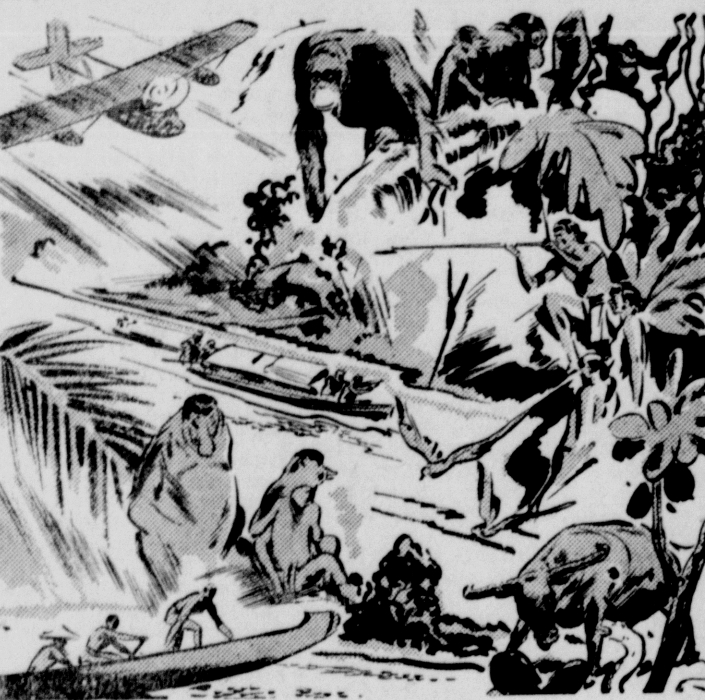

A Good Deal

DENVER, Colo.—When Ira C. Jonas crawled, unhurt, from the wreckage of his automobile after he had driven it into a moving passenger train, a junkman appeared and offered $8.50 for the demolished car.

Jonas pocketed the money, rode to work on a street car.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads will tell you where.

Theater Attractions

Wild animals galore are the principal actors in the Johnson film, "Borneo", at the Grand theater tonight and Tuesday. The narration is by Lowell Thomas.

Gary Cooper plays the role of hero in a true story for the first time in his career in "Souls at Sea", stirring drama which opened yesterday at the State to show through tonight and Tuesday.

He re-enacts the role played in real life by "Nugget" Taylor, a sea captain of the 40's, whose famous trial for manslaughter on the high seas is one of the ocean's most amazing and thrilling stories. He is supported by George Raft, Frances Dee, Henry Wilcoxon, Harry Carey, Olympe Bradina, Robert Cummings, Porter Hall and many other noted featured players.

Vessel Catches Fire

Cooper's prototype, "Nugget," was a passenger aboard the brig "William Brown" when that ship made her last voyage from Liverpool to New York. Among the passengers was his sweetheart, played by Miss Dee, and his constant companion, played by Raft. In mid-Atlantic the vessel caught fire under the most mysterious of circumstances. Her master, portrayed by Carey, was killed and because of his rank, "Nugget" assumed command. Despite the efforts of the ship's company to stem the fire it soon became apparent that the vessel was lost and that the entire company must take to the two small boats, wholly unable to handle the large number of survivors.

"Nugget" summoned the crew and passengers before him and made them tell him why they thought they should be saved. In this way he assigned most of the list to the ocean's bottom and a select few, including himself and his sweetheart, to the precarious "safety" afforded by the small boats. He saved himself, he later testified, because he was the only man left who knew how to navigate a boat and the safety of the survivors depended upon him.

Despite this, his sweetheart turned on him—mainly because he had consigned her brother, a renegade British officer mixed up in the slave trade, to the bottom. But "Nugget" was not convicted by the court who tried him later. The reason why makes "Souls at Sea" just as amazing as the true story from which it was taken.

"Borneo" at Grand
The Grand features tonight and Tuesday the film "Borneo," made from pictures taken by the late Martin Johnson, explorer, and his wife, Osa.

The couple was at first refused permission by the government for their expedition to the island because of the dangers involved. However, the trip was made and some of the finest photography of wild life ever made was the result.

Sights never before seen pass in swift and fascinating succession on the screen, where tall stories come true right before spectators' eyes. The impossible is the daily routine of this last, unknown, savage land on the earth's surface.

Lowell Thomas brings his own knowledge of far places and strange events to the narration of this fascinating film, while Lew Lehr supplies the comedy relief.

PENNANT RACES MAY BE SETTLED THIS WEEK

NATIONAL LOOP RIVALS TANGLE IN LAST GAMES

Pennant To Be Decided In Series Between Giants and Cubs

By SID FEDER.

To a lot of people, this is only the time to get ready for the end-of-the-month bills; but to big league baseball, it looks like the week for which everything has been headed since the "play ball" signal back in April.

Unless all signs are pointed backward, before the week runs out the Yankees will have clinched the American league pennant, and the Giants and Cubs will either have settled the National League squabble or given definite indication as to just what Mr. Gus Fan can expect.

From the senior circuit standpoint, New York's Giants and Chicago's holdovers, who are, at the moment, 2½ games apart in that order, go to work on each other's throats in a series starting tomorrow. From their three-game fuss, either the Giants will stagger all but "in" with the pennant, or the Cubs will wallop their way to a fight down to the tape.

In the rival loop, meantime, the Yankees, with a 10½ game lead, only need any combination of five victories or five Detroit defeats, or a collection of the two, mathematically to eliminate the Tigers and nail the flag.

Before swinging at each other, the Giants and Cubs have a little preliminary work today in winding up their series with the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn's daffy Dodgers, respectively.

It seemed "fate" was taking a hand in the Giants' behalf yesterday as they nosed out the Cards, 4-3, in 10 innings. Behind 2-1, Manager Bill Terry reached into the hat and came up with a futile pinch-hitter for his most powerful pounder, Hank Leiber, in the seventh.

Afterward, there was nothing to do but give Leiber's center field job to Wally Berger, who has been about as popular with the Giant boss for a long time as a couple of broken throwing arms. In the ninth, however, Wally belted out a homer to tie the score and ultimately lead the Giants to a heart-breaking win over Lou Warneke.

Meantime, big Max Butcher held the Cubs to four hits, but one of those was Gabby Hartnett's homer with a mate aboard—just enough to cash in on Curt Davis' classy fling for a 2-1 win over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Eddie Auker's submarine ball baffled the Yankees no end, and the Tigers trampled the American league leaders, 8-1. The White Sox were mathematically eliminated from the pennant race by only breaking even in a twin bill with the Senators, losing the opener, 5-4, and taking the nightcap, 9-1. Philadelphia's unpredictable Athletics astonished themselves, the baseball world in general, but most of all the Cleveland Indians by upsetting the Tribe twice, 8-4 and 7-3. The Boston Red Sox-St. Louis Browns' bargain bill was rained out. Pittsburgh's Pirates split with the Phillies, winning the afternoon, 5-1, after the Phils took the opener, 8-1. The Boston Bees and Cincinnati Reds did the same thing, Boston coming through, 7-6, and then losing, 2-0, on Ival Goodman's two-run homer and Gene Schott's three-hitter.

SEVEN BIG TEN TEAMS TO PLAY

Ohio State, Iowa Usher Western Conference Into Action

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—The 1937 Big Ten football menu, briskly spiced with intersectional flavor through stiff opening assignments faced by Ohio State and Iowa, goes before gridiron fans next Saturday with seven Western conference teams in action.

Ohio State's rebuilt Buckeyes and Iowa's Hawkeyes, with Coach Irv Tubbs making his Big Ten debut, square away against the toughest kind of opposition. The Buckeyes play host to the strong Texas Christian eleven and Iowa travels west to engage the University of Washington, Pacific coast title-holder.

The Buckeyes will be favored to score an intersectional win for the Midwest. The Hawkeyes will be the underdogs in their battle at Seattle.

The remainder of the Big Ten team seeing action engage in tilts of a comparatively warm-up nature. Minnesota's power-house Gopher machine takes on North Dakota State.

Centre college, where Coach Bo McMillin of Indiana started nearly two decades ago, opposes the Hoosiers at Bloomington, Illinois, which looked ragged in Saturday's game with the freshmen, entertains Ohio university, and South Dakota State invades Wisconsin. Butler university goes against Purdue.

Northwestern opens its season against Iowa State Oct. 2, on the same day Chicago opens against Vanderbilt at Nashville, Tenn. while Michigan plays host to an old and respected rival, Michigan State.

Columbiana To Open Grid Season In Game This Week

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 20.—Columbiana High school's football team opens its season Friday afternoon, meeting Salineville on the latter's field.

Last year Coach Jimmy Wiand's undefeated team won easily, 41-0, but this year may be a different story. Coach Wiand is having to replace three-fourths of his 1936 backfield, as well as three of his best linemen, Manchester, Clendenin and Miller, all of whom received mention in county and tri-county honorary teams at the close of last season.

Yesterday's STARS

WALLY BERGER, Giants—His ninth inning homer with mate on base brought Giants from almost certain defeat to tie and eventual 4-3 win over Cards.

EDDIE AUKEER, Tigers—Whipped Yanks 8 to 1 with five-hit, five-run pitching; also drove in three runs with two singles.

GIL ENGLISH, Bees, and GENE SCHOTT and IVAL GOODMAN, Reds—English hit two doubles and single, driving in two runs in 7-6 opener win; Schott pitched three-hit, 2-0 shutout in nightcap, as Goodman's homer drove in all runs.

JACK ROTHROCK and GEORGE CASTER, Athletics—Former hit three doubles in three chances and scored three runs in 8-4 opener win over Indians; Caster, effective with men on bases, pitched 10-hitter and took nightcap, 5-3.

CURT DAVIS and "GABBY" HARTNETT, Cubs—Davis' seven-hit, six-strikeout pitching stopped Dodgers as Hartnett's two-run homer brought in all runs for 2-1 win.

AL SIMMONS, Senators, and VERNON KENNEDY, White Sox—Simmons hit homer and single, driving in three runs in 5-4 opener; Kennedy allowed five hits, fanned seven and took nightcap 9-1.

HUGH MULCAHY and PINKY WHITNEY, Phillies, and RUSS BAUERS, Pirates—Mulcahy pitched six-hitter as Whitney drove in four runs with double, two singles in 8-1 opener victory; Bauers won nightcap 5-1, allowing only eight hits.

lone holdover. Fullerton, Anglemeyer and Leshner were lost by graduation. Regular linemen left from last year are: Center, E. Poulton; tackles, J. Boulton and Cole, and end, J. Eckert.

Coach Wiand, although starting practice sessions almost a month ago, has been handicapped because several of his best prospects were working and unable to report until the opening of school on Sept. 7.

The team should be fairly heavy but probably not so fast as last year's regulars, who were undefeated and captured the Tri-County title for the first time, although playing the games with Louisville and Boardman.

Twenty-seven players are on the squad at present, and only Fisher and Cole have three years of varsity experience. Of other players, the following have two years on the squad, but have not been regulars: Ira Culp, H. Burkle and Magill.

Wiand has two weighty linemen. Cole tipping the scales at 200 and Fullerton at 210, but with no experience. Of the veterans mentioned, their weights are as follows: Fisher, fullback, 185; E. Poulton, 160; J. Poulton, 170, and Eckert, 145.

Backfield Prospects
Backfield candidates with their weights are: Magill, 130; Dewalt, 150; H. Burkle, 140; J. Burkle, 135; R. Entriaken, 145; W. Entriaken, 147; S. Irons, 130, and Zellers, 125.

End candidates in addition to Eckert are: Stevens, 145; G. Gieckler, 140; Maurer, 150; Moser, 145, and R. Moore, 140. Tackle candidates in addition to Cole and Poulton are: Chamberlain, 130; Bush, 135; Howell, 170, and Ueselon, 210. Guard candidates are: Culp, 155; R. Irons, 155; V. Hoover, 150, and D. Holloway, 135. Jack Fullerton, 140, will sub for E. Poulton at center.

Following the Salineville game, the schedule will be: Saturday, Oct. 2.—Minerva. Saturday, Oct. 9.—Leontonia. Saturday, Oct. 16.—Open. (Game wanted here.) Saturday, Oct. 23.—At Louisville. Saturday, Oct. 30.—Boardman. Saturday, Nov. 6.—At Sebring. Saturday, Nov. 13.—At East Palestine. Saturday, Nov. 20.—Lisbon.

COLUMBIANS COP SOFTBALL TITLE

Defeat East Palestine and Leontonia In Tournament

Representing the local Knights of Columbus lodge, the Salem Columbians won the softball championship at the Columbiana county Catholic day celebration at Peace Valley park, near East Palestine, yesterday.

Four teams, Salem, East Palestine, East Liverpool and Leontonia, were represented in the tournament. The Columbians defeated East Palestine in their first game, 11 to 4, then went on to conquer Leontonia, 6 to 2, in the finals. Leontonia gained a 12 to 4 victory over East Liverpool in its first game.

Gabby Guapone pitched the full route for the Columbians in both games, allowing nine hits against East Palestine and five safe blows against Leontonia.

GULDAHL, SMITH TIE FOR FIRST IN OPEN EVENT

Chicago Golfers Play for Western Title In Match Today

By REX V. HESS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—The Western Open golf crown still awaited today a winner for 1937 as Horton Smith, the lanky Chicagoan, and Ralph Guldahl, the equally tall resident of the Windy City, prepared to battle in an 18-hole playoff of a tie for the championship which eluded nearly 150 other contestants in three days at Canterbury Country club.

Winding up at even par 288 for the regulation 72-hole tournament route, both Guldahl and Smith could look back over their tourney play to recall where they might have won in the regulation distance but for short putts which stayed out. Of the first time, although playing the games with Louisville and Boardman.

Joining them in the "might-have-been" chorus were "Slammin' Sam" Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., clouter and Paul Runyan, the "Little Poison" from White Plains, N. Y., who finished in a tie for third place, one stroke out of the championship playoff.

Of the quartet, Snead was first to finish yesterday, coming in with a par round of 72 for the last 18 to post a card of 289. Guldahl, coming to the last green, needed a par to beat Snead, and he got it, the hard way. His drive left him stymied by a small tree with a long approach to the hole. He cleared the tree easily enough, but his approach was strong and rounded over a trap into the gallery. His 40-foot chip shot stopped a foot short of the hole, and he was down for his par.

A few minutes later Smith came to the last tee needing a par to beat Guldahl. But he lost his advantage when his drive went out of bounds. His second drive was in good position but his approach left him with a 39-foot putt. He went for the birdie, his putt going just six inches past the cup.

Yesterday's play saw more par shattering for 18 holes than both of the first two days.

Paul Anderson of Lima, had a 71, one under.

Guldahl and Smith were scheduled to tee off at 10 a. m. today for the championship and half the gate receipts of the day in addition to their prize money.

PACKERS DROP 2ND PRO GAME

Professional Champs Defeated by Chicago Bears, 14-2

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—The 1937 football season, if the Green Bay Packers' record is an indication, is going to be rough on champions.

The Packers, who won the National Professional Football league championship in 1936, lost their second game in as many starts yesterday, dropping a 14 to 2 decision to the Chicago Bears before 16,658 spectators. The Packers lost their opener to Chicago's Cardinals.

Handicapped by the absence of Arnie Herber, injured in the Packers-College All-Stars game, Green Bay could not get going against the stalwart Bear defense. Ray Notling scored the first Bears touchdown in the third period. Before the stanza was up Jack Manders tallied on a pass from Bernie Masterson. The Packers avoided a shut out when Sam Francis' punt was blocked by Don Hutson on the Chicago 8-yard line, the ball rolling into the end zone.

Pittsburgh and Detroit swept to undisputed leads in the eastern and western sections, respectively, by downing Brooklyn and Chicago's Cardinals. Pittsburgh whipped Brooklyn 21 to 0, moving both on the ground and through the air in three quick drives as 18,000 fans looked on.

Earl (Dutch) Clark, Detroit Lion's player-coach, came through with another performance which has caused many players and fans to label him the finest all-around star in pro circles. He booted a second period dropkick which started his team to a 16 to 7 win over the Cardinals and a few minutes later made 25 yards around end for a touchdown. Reggie Monahan added three points on a place kick before the half ended, and early in the final stanza sent another placement between the uprights.

George Grosvenor scored for the Cardinals in the final period, going over on a short plunge after several passes had brought the ball into scoring position. About 18,000 saw the game.

This week's schedule:
Tuesday: Cleveland at Philadelphia (night).
Friday: Cardinals at Washington (night).
Sunday: New York at Pittsburgh; Cleveland at Brooklyn; Cardinals at Philadelphia.

Less Legerdemain and More Old-Fashioned Power Is Recipe for Ohio State Grid Eleven

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Less legerdemain and more old-fashioned power—that's the recipe Coach Francis A. Schmidt is using this year as he prepares his Ohio State Buckeyes for what he hopes will be a better season than that of 1936, when his "razzle-dazzle" offense triumphed in but five of eight games.

Not since 1931 had the Buckeyes lost three games in a season, and it was 10 years ago that they lost four for the last time. In his first two years here Schmidt's teams lost but one each year, but last season the "razzle-dazzle" lost its sting and three were chalked up on the wrong side.

10 Lettermen Lost
Now, with 10 lettermen lost by graduation, another by death and one by scholastic ineligibility, Schmidt is minus the talent necessary for his intricate "who has the ball?" offense.

Several spots must be fixed before the Bucks can hope to turn in a successful season, and one of them is the all-important left half job—the key spot of the backfield under Schmidt's system. Bill Booth, who two years ago was rated by Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois as "just as good as Red Grange," was ticketed for the left half job this season, but he was killed a couple of weeks ago in an automobile accident.

"Jumping Joe" Williams, the threat runner of the past two seasons, went out of the left halfback picture when he couldn't get over a scholastic hurdle, and then Jimmy Strausbaugh, who led Ohio's High school scorers two years ago, fell victim to the same thing.

That left Mike Kabealo, a veteran, to handle most of the chores in the ball-toting department. Mike had been shifted to quarterback, but is back at his old stand now. Nick Wasylik, the Astoria, L. I. senior, and second string quarterback the last two years, is Kabealo's understudy. A flock of sophomores are in the fight, but Schmidt is relying on his 13 lettermen and a few of last year's reserves until he gets a chance to see the newcomers under fire.

England and France Shake Hands

In true allied fashion, Gen. Sir Francis Gathorne-Hardy, commander-in-chief of the Aldershot district, shakes hands at Audley, England, with Gen. Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the armies of France. Gamelin was England's guest at the British army maneuvers.

GRATE'S ALLEYS POPULAR SPOT

Salem Bowlers Swing Into Action On Improved Slides

Refinished during the summer months, the Grate Recreation parlor's six bowling alleys are now open for the 1937-38 season. Owner E. L. Grate reports that the drives are in the best of shape, having been sanded and polished by experts this summer while Salem bowlers were resting from last season's activity.

Ralph Gregg, who has been connected with Salem bowling for a number of years, has been hired as manager of the alleys.

Grate announces that the Recreation parlor is prepared to handle bowling leagues of all kinds, including fraternal, church, industrial and club events.

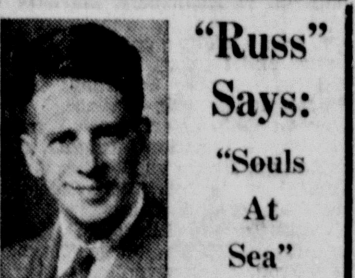

Ladies' bowling proved exceptionally popular at the Grate alleys last season and again this year the drives are expected to cater to a large number of feminine bowlers.

The Grate parlor is one of the few in this district with a ladies lounge for the use of women bowlers.

League teams bowling at the Grate alleys this season will not have to guarantee payment for a full five-man team each night they bowl. If only four men bowl, the teams will have to pay only for four men, Grate points out.

Another new policy this season is one through which $5 is donated to each team which bowls the entire season in one of the Grate leagues. A foul line referee will be on hand for all league matches.

SPECIAL TOOLS COME INTO USE

Harris Garage Outstanding In New Type of Service to Owners

"Automobile service has graduated from hit-or-miss attempts merely to keep a car running to the science of maintenance. The same painstaking care and attention that produces parts tolerances to accuracies of 1-10,000 of an inch in the manufacture of new cars now appears in all phases of service," says J. D. McCrimmon, director of service for Plymouth Motor Corporation, division of Chrysler Corporation.

Mr. McCrimmon supports this statement by pointing out the special service equipment and trained men found in approved DeSoto and Plymouth service departments.

"Special tools designed to fit particular jobs, motor analyzers which record engine and electrical conditions with scientific exactness, planned approved lubrication procedure, and carefully trained service men are some of the factors contributing to present high DeSoto and Plymouth service standards," Mr. McCrimmon continued.

"Just as efficient modern production methods have brought the price of a really fine car from $4,000 down to less than $1,000, precision factory-approved service offers car owners faster, more reliable work at less cost."

The Harris Garage, local DeSoto and Plymouth dealer, offers this new type of service to car owners. Their service department has a motor analyzer and complete approved tools.

CHANGES ORDER OF COAL FIRING

Citizens Ice & Coal Reveals How Iron Fireman Works

It is a well known scientific fact that to produce the ideal coal fire, the fuel should be fed in steady, continuous stream from below the fire bed, points out W. W. Tolerton of the Citizens Ice & Coal Co., local Iron Fireman dealer.

"The volatile gases in the green coal should be distilled off at as low a temperature as possible, in the presence of an excess of oxygen," he says. "These gases should pass through an unbroken layer of incandescent fuel. The fuel bed should not be agitated more than a bare minimum."

"The Iron Fireman system of feeding coal complies with each of these fundamental requirements. Non-agitated forced underfiring, the scientific principle employed by the Iron Fireman, is easily understood and explains how the Iron Fireman achieves such large savings in fuel costs."

"A slowly-revolving worm conveys the fuel from a hopper or bin to the underside of the firebed. At the same time, a centrifugal fan creates a forced draft. As the coal slowly rises toward the fire and becomes gradually heated, it gives up its gases. These gases mix with the air supplied by the fan and burn like any good gas. As the coal continues into the fire it continues to give off its gases steadily, evenly. By the time the coal reaches the incandescent top of the firebed, nothing but carbon and ash remains. The carbon is completely consumed. The ash falls away and is easily removed."

BERKELEY, Cal.—The "dangerous age" for accidents has been statistically fixed at the University of California as the high school age. It is at that age that the average youth is most likely to be run down by an auto, or run some one else down, also to be involved with firearms.

JULY SETS NEW ACCIDENT MARK

85 Killed, 938 Injured In 1,021 Mishaps Reported

A greater number of accidents on state highways outside municipalities was reported for July than for any other month since the traffic division of the Ohio highway department began collecting such accident statistics back in 1934. Highway Director John Jaster, Jr., announced today.

In the 1021 automobile mishaps reported to the traffic division, 85 persons were killed and 938 injured. Fifty-one more accidents were reported for July of this year than for the previous high month, August of 1936, when 970 traffic accidents on state highways were recorded.

The number killed, however, was not the highest on record but equaled the previous high month of October, 1936, when 85 persons lost their lives in accidents on state highways outside municipalities in Ohio.

The number injured was the highest since August, 1936, when 914 persons suffered injuries against 938 persons injured last month.

Of the 85 persons killed in July, 66 were men and 19 were women. Of the 938 persons injured, 513 were men and 425 were women.

Pedestrians killed numbered 8, while 16 pedestrians were injured. On the basis of the July figures Highway Director Jaster predicted an all-time high in motor accidents for Ohio in 1937 unless the motorists of the state take to heart the admonition to:

"Drive safely and save a life!"

LONDON—In a series of unfortunate public signs being quoted by an English newspaper appears the following example: Outside a church at Barnstable is a big sign reading "Love thine enemies." In the window of an adjacent house is a placard reading: "Beer is man's worst enemy."

Firemen Battle Jersey Drug Plant Blaze

First reports spread alarm in Weehawken, N. J., when a raging fire burst through the plant of the S. B. Penick Drug Co. It was thought that dozens of girls and young men working in the plant had been trapped. But final check, while revealing a score of injured victims, brought the good news that no one had been trapped in the inferno of fire. Our picture shows the wreckage of the plant after flames had spread madly through exploding chemicals. The building was reduced to ruins.

EVELYN CHANDLER, figure skater: "What an asset good digestion is! I smoke Camels during meals and after. They do help to keep my digestion in order."

GENE SARAZEN, golf champion: "I've walked, I guess, thousands of miles around golf courses with Camels. They never throw my nerves out of tune."

JOANNA DE TUSCAN, fencing champion: "I enjoy smoking so much—and I find that with Camels I can smoke often. Camels don't give me ragged nerves."

FRED McDANIEL, Texas rancher: "Me and Camels have been getting along mighty fine now for over 15 years. I never saw the beat of Camels for tastiness."

HERB LEWIS, Detroit ice hockey star: "I go for Camels in a big way. After an exhausting game—extra periods and all—they give me a 'lift.'"

IRENE SHERWOOD, shopper: "Noon-time is one of my busiest times. That's why 'for digestion's sake'—smoke Camels! means so much to me."

CAN PEOPLE REALLY TELL THE DIFFERENCE IN CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS?
The Best Answer is This...
Camels are the Largest-Selling cigarette in America

Year in and year out, Camel pays millions more for finer tobaccos. And smokers do appreciate the added pleasure this means to them!

CAMEL'S use of choicer, costlier tobaccos has been the subject of much discussion. The question has often been raised as to whether or not people could tell the difference.

The way smokers feel gives the answer! Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America...or the world.

If you are not a Camel smoker, perhaps you, too, would enjoy a cigarette with a richer, cooler taste. Turn, then, to Camels. Put them to the severest test—smoke them steadily. As you enjoy Camels, you'll realize how true it is that there is no substitute for costlier tobaccos.

Costlier Tobaccos in a Matchless Blend

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic. Skillful blending brings out the full flavor of these choice tobaccos.

MRS. JOHN W. ROCKEFELLER, JR., society aviatrix: "I prefer Camels for steady smoking. I smoke as many as I please—they don't get on my nerves."

RAY WINTERS, radio announcer: "Camels suit me! And that goes for my throat especially. Can't remember when Camels ever scratched my throat."

SID WETZEL, tunnel engineer: "I work in the face of danger. My sentiments are—'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!' Camels don't frazzle my nerves."

MRS. VINCENT MURRAY, homemaker: "Believe me, I appreciate how mild Camels are! Camels don't have any 'cigarette' after-taste."
